TANKE UNDERSIGNED HAVING BEEN American Cyclopædia,

Takes pleasure in cailing the attention of the public to this great enterprise, which brings a library into every man's household. The American Cyclopædia is the grandest work ever published in America; it is the knowledge of the centuries boiled down, the essence of all books crystallized. It stands on your shelves ready to answer every conceivable question. and gives in brief paragraphs the results of other men's years of tollsome investigation. In this age no one has time to grope among the thousand and one different works for every fact required, even if the volumes stand on his shelves; while with a Cyclopædia, the they ceased. If there is anything that a mule the necessity of having other books. You are probably spend ing dollar after dollar for books which are only of limited scope, whereas the same money expended in the same small amounts for the American Cyclopsedia, will purchase a library ship was worth about a million of dollars. THE FOURTH OF JULY is only about a fortnight off, and where, let us ask, is the spirit of '75? Or did the Centennial celebration of last year exhaust all the patriotism? At least there should be a salute fired; and then there is the race-course at the Park, with all the buildings, which we understand are to remain permanently.

ROYAL HAWAHAN CIRCUS .- Mr. Charles Derby, the enterprising proprietor of the theatre, has at a considerable expense and no little personal labor fitted up a commodious circus tent on the Esplanade, and with a company of riders and gymnasts opened to a full house on Saturday night last. The performances gave very general satisfaction, notwithstanding that the horses are new to the business, having been trained here within a few weeks. The riding of Mr. Barclay is very fine. The performances on the "ladder" by Messrs. KAMEHAMEHA DAY AT THE PARK. Monday the 11th instant was all that could be desired even in this beautiful climate; the sky was clear and the invigorating trade wind tempered the heat of the sun. From an early your the stream of carriages and horsemen with here and there a pedestrian poured out of the city towards Kapiolani Park, until by half-past nine the city was pretty much deserted and wore an aspect of Subbath-like peace and stillness, all shops and places of business being closed and everybody "out of town." We have beard various estimates made of the number of persons who visited the park grounds during the day, ranging from three thousand up to as high as eight, but we believe the correct figure will be between five and six thousand. The arrangements made by the Committee of the Park Association for the accommodation of visitors and for the carrying out of the programme of spots, were excellent, and elicited favorable comments. The hour appointed for the ceremony of formally opening the Park was ten o'clock, and with His Majesty the King, accompanied by Queen Kapiolani, arrived on the grounds and were received with military honors. Captain James Makee, President of Kapiolani Park Association, conducted their Majesties to the pavillion prerhetorical exercises each day at 2 P. M. The pared for them, surmounted by the Royal Standard, and punctually at 10 o'clock he addressed the King as follows :

As the President of the Kapiolani Park Association it is my bonorable duty at this its formal opening to address Your Majesty. It has come to be generally recognized that cities require for complete civilized life something more than paved and lighted streets, wharves, sewers, water-works, police, and such other matters as are of the first necessity. Men, women and children need places of open air, public resort for refreshment and recreation by the kindly influences of nature. It is true that Honolulu has not yet grown to be such a compact and great city as to leave no accessible open spaces for common resort, as well as many ample private gardens, nor can we hope that the extension of the city will soon take up the ground to Diamond Head, nevertheless it seemed to the members of the Association that the day had come for securing a large public park for Honolulu. Time is needed to create the most attractive features of a park. Avenues of palms must be planted by one generation for its successors. In addressing Your Majesty on the behalf of the Association, I do not fail to remember that you have been from the beginning a member of it and a chief promoter of the enterprise, that the first suggestion of the project received your cordial support and that it is by Your Majesty's gracious gift that these grounds have been demised at nominal rent, from the crown domain. While we are sensible that we are only at the beginnings of our work we trust that it has nevertheless come to a point when we may properly present it to Your Majesty, for formal inauguration as a Park.

In the possibilities of the future we see here claim through all the twelve months such a fine ains inland. A new road soon to be opened will make it near and of easy access from the city. Cottages and marine villas will bring hither in its season the social life of the town. Here too may we not hope at some time to see biennial exhibitions of the agriculture and manufactures, era of reciprocity may have to show in this Kingdom. The earnest wish and sincere intention of the gentlemen of the Association is that this place may always be kept free from everything which shall render it unworthy of the gentle lady whose name it bears, from everything which may debar families, children and quiet people from frequent resort to it. This, the Day of the great Founder of Your Majesty's Throne, is an auspicious day for the dedication to its uses of an institution which is intended for the public benefit. It has by gracious permission received the name of the Queen, a musical

On behalf then of the Association I HEREBY PRESENT to Your Majesty this Kapiolani Park for THE ACT OF FORMAL OPENING.

To which His Majesty replied : I am happy that Kamehameha Day of this the first public park of the Kingdom. Certainly no better use can be made of some on this breezy plain a resort and place of innocent refreshment for all who wish to leave the dust of the town streets. I was greatly struck even in my winter journey in the United States, with the large spaces set apart in and near cities for public grounds and the care and expense put upon them, and could well imagine the beautiful appearance they would present when clothed in their summer If we cannot vie in expense and in artificial adornment with the parks of Europe and America, I see yet no reason why we should not undertake to do what is proportionate to our means. Nor do I fear that the generosity and taste of this community will fail to accomplish a most creditable result. What has been done in most creditable result. What has been done in the few months that our Association has been in large number of fresh troops are expected existence, so that to-day we have these commodious premises for the celebration of this anniversary, that you have been able to make such a course, such walks and drives and the outlines of a future park, when time shall have assisted you, claims my admiration, and gives me assurance that we have secured a new feature of attraction to the capital of my Kingdom. I trust that your hopes may be realized that this may become the site of agricultural and industrial exhibitions, that it may become the frequent and general resort of all our citizens and visitors, and that we may, erelong, long, see a marine suburb on yonder beach. And now, Mr. President, and gentlemen of the

and purposes that you have expressed, and that it be named KAPIOLANI PARK. The Gazette tries to insult people by throwing in their face that they have made money. Such asininity! No wonder that you style very appropriately the Editor of that ournal "Balasm's Ass." One would imagine that the ability to earn one's own livelihood should be taken as a proof of the capacity of a man to manage the business of others equally as well. But. CHICAGO, May 28th .- The Times' London special says: The English government regards the present situation as a crisis of the war. Little of the real movements are permitted to reach the pubic, though the critical nature of the situation is understood in journalistic and diplomatic quarters. The war is the theme on every tongue. Every allusion to Gladstone's peace policy is received with derision. The ominous reticence and irresistible far more than yet meets the eye. The site has advance of the Russians in Asia, while the Danublas advantages which may be offset against the army has been at a standstill, has thrown the whole lack of certain features of park scenery, such as | nation into a frenzy of indignation and alarm. Meetings are to be called to urge a vigorous policy on Disraeli. It is generally admitted that England cannot look idly on and permit the Russians to seize the British highway to India under pretext of christianizing the Turks The English representative at Constantinople has been sending news for a week which leaves England no alternative but war.

The Turkish Empire is represented by Layard as in a state of irretrievable collapse. The capture of Andahar and the dispersion of the Turkish army was a deliberate scheme of the Turkish Cabinet to electrify Great Britain to instant intervention. The defense in Asia has proved to be a preconcerted LONDON, May 28th .- A special from Alexandria are being delivered at Woolwich. New York, May 29th.—The Herald's correspondent at the Russian headquarters at Ploiesti, describes the destruction of the Turkish monitor on the Danube. He says four gunboats left Ibrail on the 25th. About two hours' steaming brought the gunboats where the Turkish ironelade lay anchored, and without delay the signal to attack was given. Lieutenant Denbasoff ran his gunboat in between the Turkish ironclads, without paying any a tention to the heavy fire. Selecting the largest he ran his gunboat alongside, and succeeded in exploding a torpedo under her side, causing a bad leak, but not damaging her sufthe sports of the day began. We give the events ficiently to disable her. The partial failure was soon remedied by the gunboat Xenis, which had closely followed the Czarowitz, and approaching the Turkish monitor succeeded in exploding under her a second torpedo. This brilliant action did not occupy more than twenty minutes from the moment of giving the signal to attack till the withdrawal of the Russian gunboats. During the action the Turks Time-3 53; but Emeraki broke badly and Dick had the kept up a constant fire upon the assailants, but the aim of the artillerist was so bad that not a single Russian was struck. The effect of the torpedo attack is likely to prove very demoralizing to the Turkish fleet in the Danube. It definitely settles the question of the value of the Turkish fleet in preventing the passage of the Danube, and will probably induce the Turkish ironclads to remove from the dangerous neighborhood of the Russian gunboats.

CHICAGO, May 29th -The Times' London special says : Dispatches to the English Envoy represent that unless instant steps are taken, the Russeans will be within striking distance of Constantinopla from the East within a month. The Russians now in Asia are in a condition to attack Mukhtar Pasha, capture his army and strike for Constantinople without serious obstacles. The English Foreign office has within a week secured the exclusive use of a wire to Constantinople and an unintermittent correspondence has been carried on. The English press and members of Parliament comment with bitterness on the Russian deception, and point out that the objects of the war have been ignored, and that instead of relieving the so called outrages in Bulgaria, the Russians are waging war in the East, where English interests are jeopardized by every stroke of her syms. Next week, under the pretence of a grand review the entire English ironelad squadron not in the East will assemble at Portsmouth.
